

SGI-010 and SGI-016 Fabrication Superstar

SKYREACH L&S Extrusions Corp. is pleased to announce the addition of SGI-010 and SGI-016 Capstock window profiles to its product offering. This co-extruded profile is less expensive than its painted equivalent, which means it can be offered to the market at an exceptional price.

Since it has the same physical properties as the rest of the profile, this co-extruded superstar performs the same as its standard white extruded counterpart. Made with ASA acrylic—the best high-grade capstock material in the industry—these extrusions boast UV stability through low heat build up and good heat reflection, along with superior color retention.

Start taking advantage of this low cost, high value option today! Available in four attractive colours: Cream White, Cashmere, Sandalwood and Sandstone. Start promoting Capstock coloured profiles as an alternative to painted profiles and filter the savings through to your customers.
